Zurich has a unique position in Switzerland. It is the country's largest city and home to an internationally reputed financial centre as well as being the focus of an economic region which acts as the motor of Switzerland, and along with Geneva is the most important gateway to the country. The wide variety of cultural activities and educational institutions define Zurich's character as a diverse, open city with a passion for life. Zurich is the capital of the canton of the same name and the centre of a number of regions which together have some 1.9 million inhabitants. It is famous for its lakeside location and green, densely wooded chain of hills which run through the city from north to south. Zurich's place on the world stage does not come down to its size but to its strong international networks. The high standards of living, working and accommodation are regularly confirmed in surveys of the local residents, and Zurich consistently finds itself at the top of international rankings of cities in terms of quality of life.

Zürich is the largest city in Switzerland with a population of over 380,500, an increase of 19,500 since year 2000. 1.1 million people live in Zürich agglomeration, while there are 1.9 million in the metropolitan area. By 2008, 31% of the city's population was made up of non-Swiss from a total of 166 different countries, all of whom help to make up Zürich's multi-cultural character. 10% of all foreigners who move to Switzerland come to the City of Zürich, emphasizing its central role as an economic hub. Germans make up the largest group with 27,870 living in the city, followed by Italians 13,598 and Serbia and Montenegro with 10,245.

One out of every nine jobs in Switzerland is in the City of Zürich, while 82 of 208 banking institutions in Switzerland have their headquarters here. The total assets of these banks correspond to 85.1% of the total value of all assets held in Switzerland. One out of every five jobs in the creative economy can also be found in Zürich, and these generate CHF 9.2 billion – 15% of Switzerland's entire revenue. Some 110 hotel companies with 11,500 beds at their disposal provide 2.5 million overnight stays every year, while Zürich airport looks after around 20 million passengers.
