About Barcelona

Barcelona is a city in Spain. It is the capital and largest city of Catalonia, as well as the second most populous municipality of Spain. With a population of 1.6 million within city limits, its urban area extends to numerous neighboring municipalities within the Province of Barcelona and is home to around 4.7 million people, making it the sixth most populous urban area in the European Union after Paris, London, Madrid, the Ruhr area and Milan.

Blessed with a privileged location between the vibrant shores of the Mediterranean Sea and the spectacular Collserola mountain range, the sprawling metropolis features 10 main districts, each of them with its own particular feel and priceless architectural wonders. The most rousing of all, Ciutat Vella (Old Town) is the beating heart of Barcelona. Equally charming, L'Eixample and Gracia balance the medieval allure of the historic center with a contemporary layout, wide avenues, and precious, awe-inspiring Modernista architecture.

Each district features a cluster of interesting neighborhoods, making from Barcelona an incredibly varied, dynamic city with numerous faces and personalities. From the narrow winding streets and quintessential cafes of Barri Gotic to the trendy vibe of El Raval, and from the charismatic Barceloneta with its chiringuito-lined sandy beach to the cultural delights of Montjuic, the Catalan capital has it all. As cosmopolitan as the city itself, Barcelona's nightlife ranges from sassy late dinners and quirky Latin nights out to flamboyant jamborees and spectacular mega parties, making for everyone's after-dark paradise.

Barcelona is one of the world's leading tourist, economic, trade fair and cultural centres, and its influence in commerce, education, entertainment, media, fashion, science, and the arts all contribute to its status as one of the world's major global cities. It is a major cultural and economic centre in southwestern Europe, 24th in the world (before Zürich, after Frankfurt) and a financial centre. In 2008 it was the fourth most economically powerful city by GDP in the European Union and 35th in the world with GDP amounting to Euro 177 billion. In 2012 Barcelona had a GDP of $170 billion; and it was leading Spain in employment rate in that moment.
