About Amsterdam

Amsterdam is one of the greatest small cities in the world. Amsterdam is located in the province 'Noord-Holland', situated in the west. It is one of the most popular and beautiful destinations in Europe, receiving more than 4.5 million tourists annually.

Canal cruises are a popular way to see the city from the perspective of its canals. Although the seat of Netherlands government is in The Hague, Amsterdam is the nominal capital. It is also the country's largest city, with a population of 851,373 within the city proper, 1,351,587 in the urban area and 2,410,960 in the Amsterdam metropolitan area.

The 17th-century canals of Amsterdam and the 19–20th century Defense Line of Amsterdam are on the UNESCO World Heritage List. As the commercial capital of the Netherlands and one of the top financial centres in Europe, Amsterdam is considered an alpha world city by the Globalization and World Cities (GaWC) study group. In 2012, Amsterdam was ranked the second best city to live in by the Economist Intelligence Unit (EIU). The Amsterdam Stock Exchange, the oldest stock exchange in the world, is located in the city centre.

The Port of Amsterdam to this day remains the second in the country, and the fifth largest seaport in Europe. The city is also well known for its nightlife and festival activity; several of its nightclubs (Melkweg, Paradiso) are among the world's most famous. It is also one of the world's most multicultural cities, with at least 177 nationalities represented.

Amsterdam's main attractions, including its historic canals, the Rijksmuseum, the Van Gogh Museum, the Stedelijk Museum, Hermitage Amsterdam, the Anne Frank House, the Amsterdam Museum, its red-light district and its many cannabis coffee shops draw more than 5 million international visitors annually.

Places to visit in Amsterdam:

The Rijksmuseum: One of Amsterdam's most popular attractions - and certainly its most important art repository - the Rijksmuseum was founded in 1809 to house the country's huge collection of rare art and antiquities. The museum's impressive collection includes some seven million works of art, among them more than 5,000 important paintings spread across 250 rooms of this sprawling building. In addition to its paintings, the Rijksmuseum boasts a well-stocked library of more than 35,000 books and manuscripts, as well as numerous fascinating displays dealing with the development of art and culture in the Netherlands.

The Anne Frank House: Amsterdam's most visited attraction, the Anne Frank Huis is situated along the Prinsengracht canal. The structure that once hid Anne Frank, her family and four other Jewish people from the Nazi authorities during World War II has been viewed as a memorial to the Holocaust since 1947, when Anne's father published the diary that Anne wrote while they lived hidden within the building. A plan to preserve the building was hatched in 1955 when developers were planning to demolish the structure. The building opened as a museum in 1960.

The Van Gogh Museum: Located on the northwestern side of the Museum Square, or Museumplein, the Van Gogh Museum is home to the world's largest collection of the artist's paintings and letters. Housed in a four-story building designed by Gerrit Rietveld in the 1970s, the museum is t's also the second most visited museum in the Netherlands.

Bloemenmarkt: The Bloemenmarkt is the world's only floating flower market. Founded in 1862, it is sited in Amsterdam, Netherlands, on Singel between Muntplein and Koningsplein in the city's southern canal belt.
