INTRODUCTION

It is our great pleasure and honour to welcome participants from over the globe to the '10th International Conference on Isotopes (10ICI)' on 3rd until 7th February, 2020 at Kuala Lumpur Convention Centre, Malaysia. The Conference organizers have put tremendous effort to achieve highly acclaimed, more rewarding, enjoyable, comprehensive and inspiring scientific programmes such as Young Researcher Program, Continuous Education Program (CEP) and Continuous Professional Development (CPD) points program. Furthermore, the Conference also highlight technical presentations, plenary talks, forum, technical exhibition and scientific visit.

10ICI will provide invaluable opportunities to discuss the state-of-the art in isotope technology for a better quality of life through the advancement and application of isotopes in medicine, environment, industry and agriculture. Under the theme Harnessing Isotopes for Improved Quality of Life, the 10ICI aims to bring together the national and international scientists, engineers, physicists, radiochemists, physicians and leaders from business, industry and governments to exchange and share cutting-edge research and advanced state-of-practice. The Conference cover topics related to radiation processing, nuclear medicine, radiation oncology, industrial diagnostic technologies, environmental analysis, isotope production and distribution, nuclear in agriculture, radiation protection, nuclear safety, security and policy.

The isotopes contribute significantly to the research, development and industrial activities in medical, environmental, agricultural and services sphere. Current advanced isotopes research, development and industrial activities fabricate high-tech facilities. These facilities accommodate swift and outstandingly precise analyses which lead to further interest and applications in other new fields of knowledge.

Thus, it is timely to have this 10ICI to assess current developments and recent innovations by introducing new ideas and future trends. The Conference is an excellent platform to be engaged with Industry Experts, Academic Speakers, and Radiochemists, Companies, Decision-makers, interacting and defining novel prospects in isotope business. Moreover, particular instance of novel radioisotopes and nuclear technology approaches and applications such as medical systems development and industrial insights will gain the latest technological advantages.
