ABOUT DESTINATION ROME

ROME, Caput Mundi during the Roman Empire, capital of Italy since 1870, home of the Catholic Church and the Italian government, is located on the banks of the Tiber, there where the river, running weakly surrounded by seven hills, creates vast meanders which originate little plains. With its 2,459,776 inhabitants (2001), Rome is today the biggest and big populous city of Italy. Located in the middle of the Italian peninsula, the city is easily accessible from very important places both in Italy and abroad. Fiumicino airport, 26-km south-west of Rome, is the airport for both international and domestic air services. There are also night bus services available between Stazione Tiburtina and the airport. Ciampino airport, 13-Km south-east of Rome, is a subsidiary airport used mainly for domestic flights and international charter flights. Rome can be reached via Eurostar train and by the systematic railway line that link it with the most important Italian and international cities. The city is good served by two underground railway system besides the fairly efficient bus and tram services. The climate is temperate, with breezy winters and hot summers.
