Our Services

ONLINE EVENTS	OFFLINE EVENTS
Revive your business with Events B2B's data for all your online events.	With Mails STORE, get a jump start on all offline events with data backed integration to attract the right buyers for your business.
With the upsurge of digital business, online events are getting more popular by the day. These are cost effective and have a much wider reach than physical events.	Offline events have major advantages- being cost effective, your reach is not bound to geographic limits and you know whether an attendee is interested in your product or service a lot more than just a curious visit at your booth at a trade show.
Events B2B helps businesses connect to target attendees through a web interface by providing exclusive databases that fit their requirements. Find mailing lists that resonate with your business and promote your event in the best online format.	Connect to your audience directly, unhinged and straight forward with 100% verified, clean and hygienic mailing lists. With Event B2B's extensive attendee mailing list you get data segmentation and prospect mapping information to precisely target customers.

The various types of online events include:

Webinars

With our industry specific attendee lists, businesses can conduct comprehensive webinars- comprising of workshops, presentations, sales and marketing discussions that are delivered through web interactions. Essentially, these take place in real-time and are the best sources of online discussions. With an interactive interface, provide information that you want to be sent-out to your potential leads.

Trade Shows

Being a pro in tradeshow marketing, we are your go-to experts for data-marketing solutions. Businesses gather to display and advertise their services to prospects/customers from varied industries. As it is a physical gathering, exchange of ideas, networking and interacting with the audience is a norm. We provide you with updated data-driven mailing lists that would help you connect with the right prospects and eventually convert these prospects into actual sales.

Virtual Events

By creating a virtual environment customers and vendors gather at a common web-based marketplace. Moreover, a virtual event is as good as a physical market. Get attendee lists of potential leads, like-minded professionals who would be interested in your virtual event. Events B2B provides users with seamless data-driven services that assures long-term success.

Conferences

Attendees from various companies or even the same company assemble to hold discussions on specific topics like reports, marketing events, product launches or even educational purposes. We help businesses with pre and post conference requirements that take stock of attendees and impart specific and relatable information.

Live Streaming Events

Live streaming events are the new fad and are also the most convincing form of online event marketing for any user. Most business clients come-in through live events. We help you by providing the best quality prospect mailing lists for live events, whereby you can reach out to potential customers by using many live streaming applications that only require a simple webcam to stream viewers. Stream, record, and engage your audience with advanced chat and social media functionality. This helps build audience base and focus on generating results.

Seminars

Events B2B have customized mailing lists that would help organize small scale events like seminars, which are compact versions of a conference. These are essentially smaller meetings where experts share their knowledge and information with the audience. Find exclusive access to databases for small scale events with specific tailor-made plans.

Breakfasts and Meet-ups

We at Events B2B focus entirely on our customers/prospects and generating the maximum number of appointments for them. These events are specifically targeted to smaller groups of people. Find exclusive data for networking, one-to-one discussions and marketing strategies for such intimate events.

Data Source

Our Model base Attendee list is built based on our innovative attendee tracking platform, Attend base, which monitors public social stream data around events and conferences globally, analyzes, normalizes, de-dupes and delivers a curated list of attendees to a conference or event. It's the only solution to accurately identify conference and event attendees for targeted post-event marketing.

Reaching key corporate business executives and management personnel who have attended trade shows across various industries can give your business events and marketing initiatives a bigger reach with a much needed boost. These attendees are the decision makers associated with established enterprises, partnership firms, and small entrepreneurs. Connecting with them for your services, products or solutions can serve as an opportunity to amplify your marketing outcomes significantly.

we have learned to generate results for various industries across the globe. We comprise of an in-house team of experts having over 13 years of experience in handling some of the largest trade shows in the US and Europe, we have also converted trade shows into thriving business destinations. With over 79 million datasets consisting of diversified Industries lists and a 100% multi-level verification process, be assured to achieve your business goals.
